Charity is one of the aspects of being human. Our parents teach us that we should help each other and should give them what we have. Most people think that only rich people can help others, because they have enough money, but it is not. Even small help means a lot to others. Our team decides to make the platform, where anyone can help and get help.

Web Application Part 01

Web Application

How does it work?

For the Web Application we use HTML as a markup language, CSS for style and JavaScript for Back-end and Express JS to save our data. There user can sent an application to get help, become volunteer or donate something.

NEED HELP

Giving individuals the power to make impactful donations by connecting them with the items charities need most.

Charities often have certain needed items that are expensive to purchase and also aren't items that are typically donated. Donors want to make impactful donations, but often don't know what items the charity needs to operate. Charity management system solves this problem from both ends by creating a platform to connect donors with the items charities need most.

Android Application

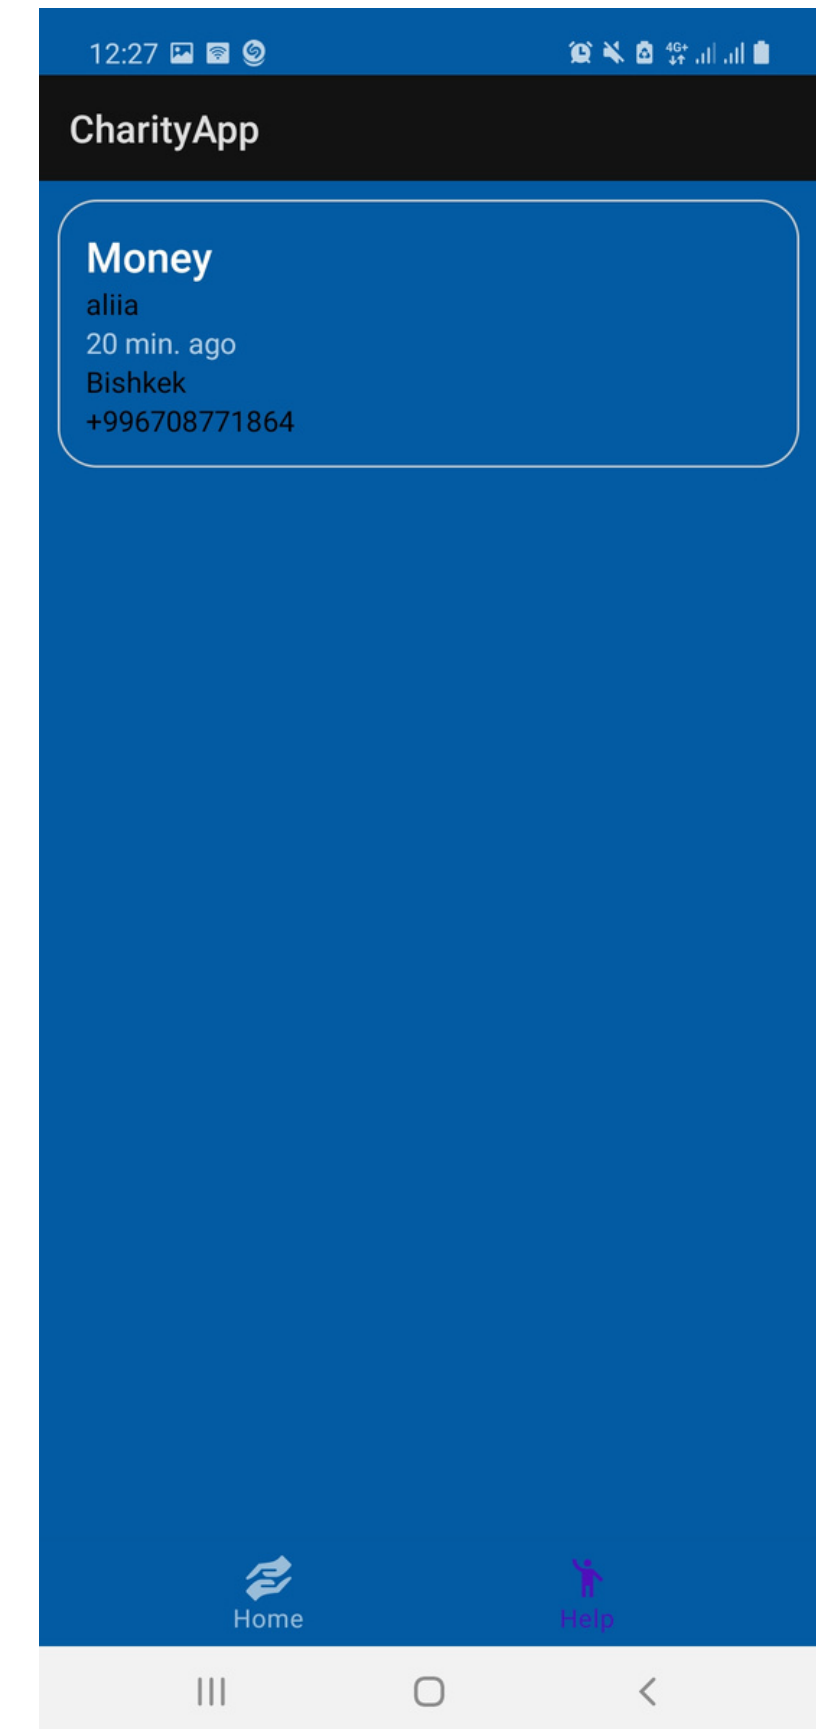

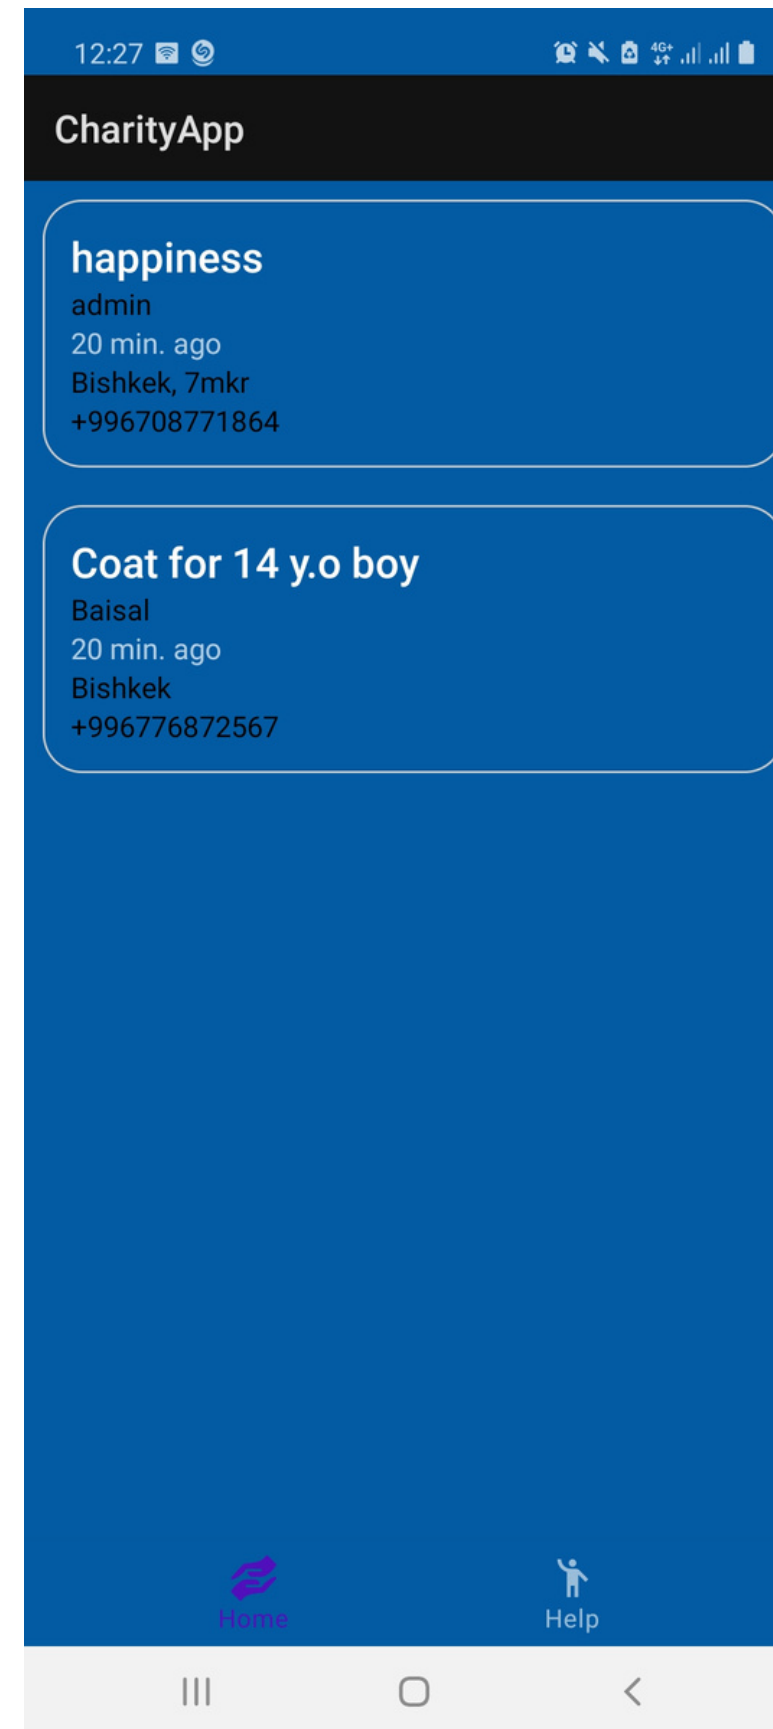

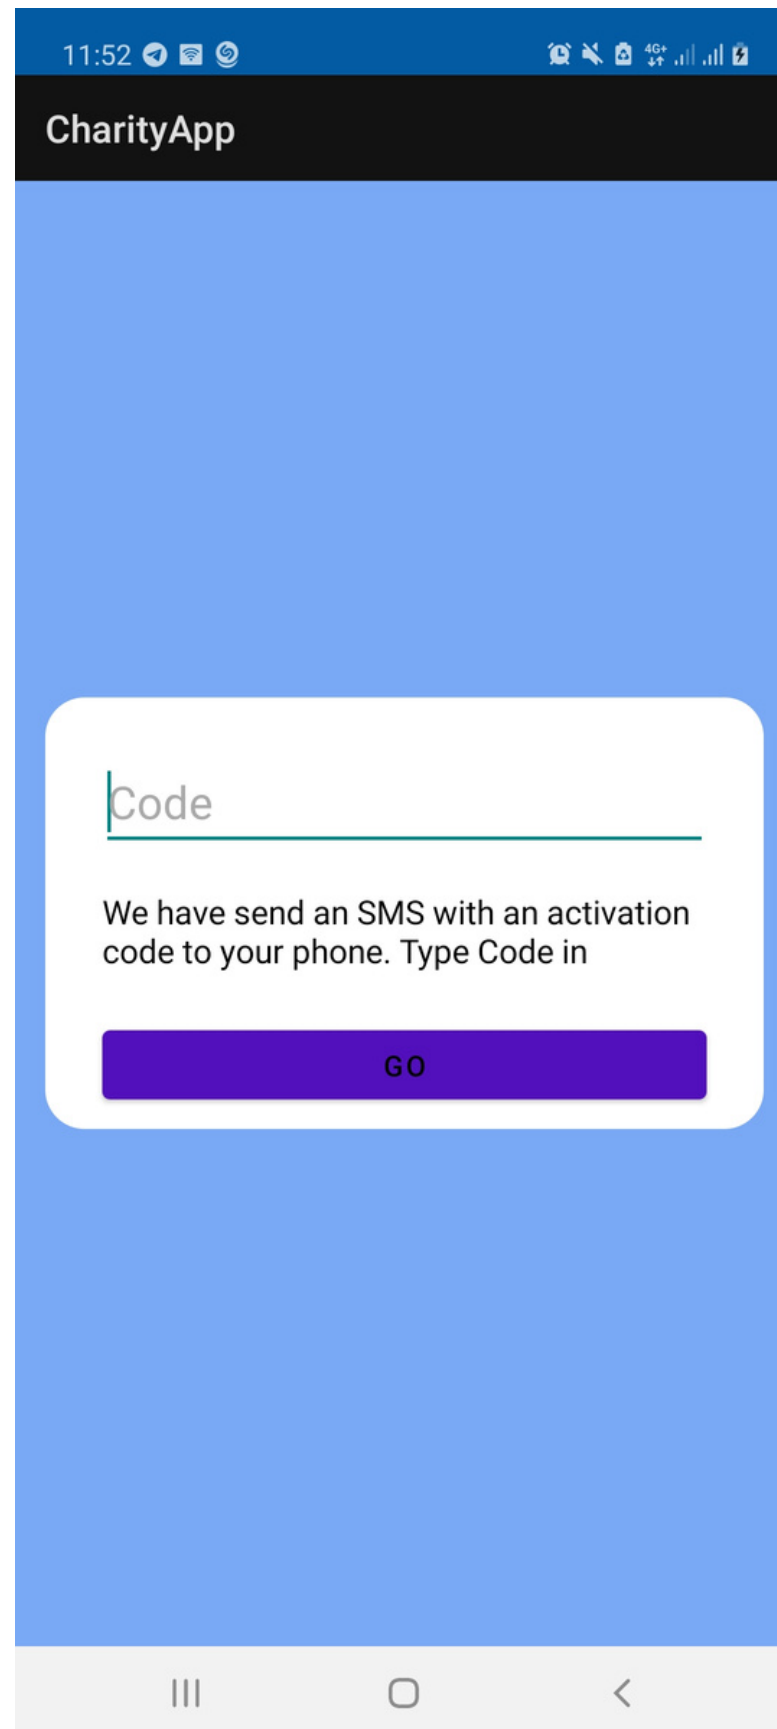

— 09

Our Android application is written on Java. We have used Firebase for authentication and to save our data.

Android user should firstly sign in, if she/he does not have account, then, user should create account.

What we learn from this project?

What kind of decisions we have done?

Practice

Learning is good, but practice is better. It was the first time we deal with real-not-real project.

Learning

For making this project, we search a lot of things from internet, cause our knowledge was not as good as it should be

Decisions

Now we know how much we know and from know we will try to study extra

THANK YOU
